

Tropical Paradise!

A 'Let's Read Together!' Book

Kit and Sam were bored. It was the wettest weekend in a long time. They dreamed of being somewhere hot and sunny. Ben looked sadder than ever because he hadn't been for a walk. While Mum took Ben out for a walk, Dad showed Kit and Sam Dad a website about tropical islands.

They decided to use their magic map to go to the island of Happa. When they arrived, the weather was sunny and Kit thought it was the hottest place that they had ever been! The golden sand was the softest they had ever felt and they built the biggest sandcastle ever with eight shells on.

Q1: What did Kit and Sam dream about?

Q2: What was the weather like on Happa island?

All of a sudden, the weather changed. It got windy and much colder so they quickly searched for somewhere to shelter. Then, it started to rain! Oh no! Luckily they found a little hut and ran inside quickly, before they got any wetter!

They met the kindest ice cream seller and they each bought a yummy ice cream. The hot air made it very runny. They did not want to try the muddy banana flavour!

Q3: Where did Kit and Sam shelter from the rain?

Q4: What did Kit and Sam buy on the island?

Next, Kit and Sam went looking for wildlife. They spotted a fast-moving lizard on a bumpy log and the fastest fish they had ever seen in the sea. It was a spikey, golden pufferfish. Kit told him a funny joke!

Kit and Sam paddled back up on to the sandy beach. They both agreed that it was the hottest holiday ever! As rain clouds appeared in the distance, they decided that it was time to get the map and go home.

Q5: Where did Kit and Sam spot the lizard?

Q6: Why did Kit and Sam decide it was time to go home?

Tropical Paradise
